ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Α model implementation process conversational rational agent as a kernel of a dialogue system and/or as an element (agent) of a multiagent definition including of a conceptual architecture of a conversational rational agent; formal specification of the different components architecture and their combination permitting a formal 10 model to be obtained; definition of the architecture implementing the formal architecture; and definition of implementation mechanisms of the formal specifications, the rational agent being suited both to 15 converse with another agent or with a user of the system through any communication medium.

G:\Data\CLIENT\136\160\Appln-Amended.doc